

In The Final Analysis Of Our Requirements, Dundas Professional Services Fits The Bill

Background

Validas, Inc. is a software company that has revolutionized invoice analysis. As a developer of real-time wireless bill analysis technology, we have recently launched an online bill audit engine designed to save users money and provide a thorough breakdown of various billing elements. Our product includes complete detailed utilization reports and graphs for the uploaded billing statement and itemizes exactly what transpired during the billing period - within seconds.

The Challenge

Much of our patented invoice analysis technology involves a lot of tabular data - raw textual analysis that can be difficult to read and absorb. We wanted to provide our customers with a graphical representation in order for them to visualize the reports more easily.

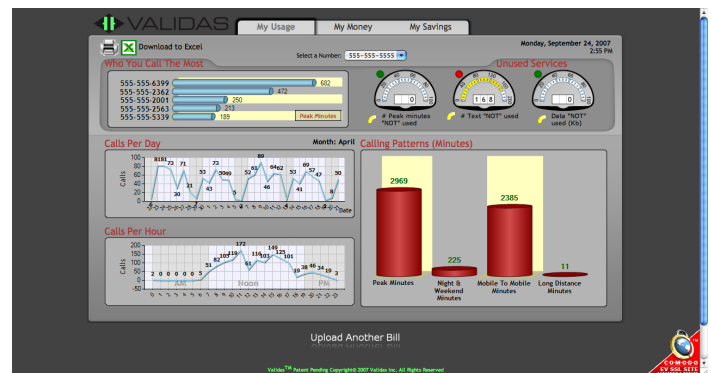

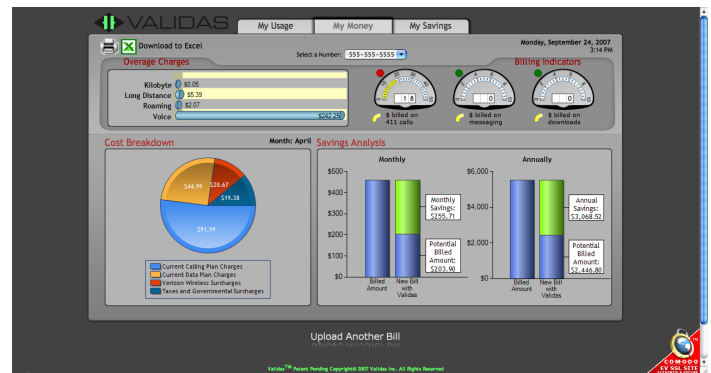

Why We Chose Dundas

We were interested in Dundas Chart for .NET and so we picked up a copy. While evaluating it, we were on the Dundas website and noticed "Dundas Professional Services." With the expectation that Dundas employees would know their tools the best, we decided to give them a call and pick their brains.

The Results

Dundas agreed to create only visual designs for our dashboards, as they weren't familiar with our exact data model. They then provided us with easy-to-use methods to hook up our data to the mock-up they created, making this process effortless. We created an end-to-end solution for our requirements together, all within the estimated time frame. And the results were amazing!

All in all, working with Dundas Professional Services was an enjoyable project for both parties. Our communication with them was excellent and because of that, turnaround times were short. Also, they presented us with exceptional feedback through every stage - they had advice for every proposal - and this helped us refine our requirements and make everything go smoothly. We really appreciated all the personal attention and business expertise Dundas Professional Services provides - that's something you just can't get from a turnkey dashboard solution.
